Green living

Nestled among art galleries, antiques shops, coffeehouses, and boutiques in trendy Market St., New Orleans, this unique gem shines. Promoting an ecolifestyle is the heart of the Spruce mission, so educating clients and connecting them with eco-installers is a big part of their services. Nomita Joshi-Gupta and Cheryl Nix Murphy, best friends for over 14 years, strike the perfect balance between function and form with an ecotwist in their business. Joshi-Gupta and Nix Murphy have combined their extensive backgrounds in architecture, urban planning, environmental sciences, and historic preservation to offer a menu of options for comprehensive design services, décor, building products, finishes, and lifestyle options in a relaxed ecofriendly atmosphere, complete with a soothing cup of tea. At Spruce, high-quality green products meld happily with a high design aesthetic. Spruce definitely provides a "wow" factor from the moment you step inside the thoughtfully designed space. The shop showcases ecosurfaces, wall coverings, décor, and outdoor items. They are always recruiting and educating skilled craftspeople to support their vision too. The philosophy is aptly encapsulated on their website as "Eco-Modern lifestyle: the only way to live our own life, but also for the life of our future generations and the planet as a whole. Our goal is to make it the way of life for others". www.sprucenola.com
